Nursing Practice Consultant – Primary Health

This is an until-filled competition. Candidates are encouraged not to delay submitting their application as this posting can close at any time with 24-hours posted notice. Resumes will be screened at regular intervals until the position is filled or the competition closes, whichever is earliest.

This is for a full-time, permanent position, working 75 hours bi-weekly. This position is for a Nursing Practice Consultant with a focus on supporting primary health care in an expanded scope.

The Community Nursing Branch is responsible for the delivery of primary and public health care through health centres situated across the Yukon. This position is based in Whitehorse and includes the training, on-going education and development of staff to ensure they meet or exceed the professional standards required to function in primary health care and in an expanded role capacity.

The Community Nursing Branch overall is also responsible for the management and operation of various tele-information programs and systems, specifically the Yukon Tele-Radiology Program in rural community health centres, and liaising with the 811 health-line and with other internal education and learning management systems.

The Nursing Practice Consultant (NPC) is part of a skilled and dynamic team responsible for coordinating and delivering clinical training to all branch staff, and mentoring nurses, including NICs. This position involves coordinating and delivering professional development courses and providing training and education designed to maintain and keep current the knowledge and skills of those working in an expanded nursing scope of practice. Additionally, the consultants identify the resources required to meet program objectives and ensure financial accountability, provide recommendations to Community Nursing management, conduct program audits and develop and deliver educational support for practice issues, and investigate issues specific to the Tele-Radiology and 811 programs.
